A Negro Voter Sifts Some Political Chaff

The current issue of Saturday Evening Post (December 8) has a special article which should be required reading for every American. Its "A Negro Voter Sifts Up Taft," written by Zora Neale Hurston, well known Ohio Negro woman — and what she has to say about politicians and the future of America should command as close attention from whites as from Negroes.

Her article is a frank appraisal of Robert A. Taft's chances for the presidency in 1952, but her discussion of men and government — and the Negro voter — could be applied with the same force to other public figures of firm character but not so well known as the Ohio Republican senator.

Zora Hurston is an able writer. Here's an example: She is discussing the muddled meaning of the word "liberal," and clarifies it as follows:

"This brings to our minds the picture of Alexander Hamilton leaving his sick bed to travel to Rhode Island to influence a vote to break the deadlock for the Presidency between Jefferson, with whom he had violently disagreed on many occasions and who belonged to the opposing party, and Aaron Burr. Hamilton persuaded the Rhode Island voter to cast his vote for Jefferson, 'because he is the better man.' That is the kind of liberalism that Taft is talking about."

I thought this was a remarkably concise and timely illustration. Those, too, were dangerous times. You know what kind of a man Burr turned out to be. Hamilton stopped him with an act of great courage, for it cost Hamilton his life — Burr was so enraged that, duels then being permitted, he challenged Hamilton and killed him.

Zora Hurston is caustic about the way the Negro voter has been traded in by so-called liberals. She hands a harsh package to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, citing Mrs. Roosevelt's criticism of the D. A. R. for refusing to let the great Negro artist Marian Anderson appear in Washington's Constitution Hall — Mrs. Roosevelt resigning from the D. A. R. with great publicity and gusto.

But the writer goes on to point out that at the same time Mrs. Roosevelt was discreetly silent about the white high school in Washington, which refused to let Marian Anderson sing unless Negroes were barred from the audience — Mrs. Roosevelt's silence being attributed to the fact that the District of Columbia is under direct control of the Democratic majority in congress, Mrs. Roosevelt's party.

"Therefore," continues this shrewd Ohio Negro woman, "there is but one conclusion to be drawn. Marian Anderson is a world-famous artist, and deservedly so. Her name was bound to be known to Negroes all over the nation. 'Defending' her would attract notice and bring in the Negro vote."

Concluding, the writer says: "We, as Negroes, will not find Taft a liberal in the sense we have been taking the word to mean, for Taft, I repeat, is not pro-anybody. Neither pro-Negro, pro-white, pro-labor, pro-management or anything else. He is for the cause and the occasion when he believes it to be right."

I submit to you the foregoing is one of the great political truths of our day — a statement to test and try all candidates. Taft or anyone else, as we ponder the grave question of America's leadership in these dark hours for the whole world.

SABOTEURS BLAMED

Pusan, Korea, Dec. 8 (AP) — South Korean Defense Minister Lee Ki Poong today blamed the explosion of a government arsenal here Nov. 13 on Red saboteurs.

Six persons were killed, 50 injured and more than 2,000 made homeless by the blast.

Lee said two men were arrested early this week in connection with the case and will be tried by a court martial.

Russia Levels Blast at Kennan

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP) — Soviet Russia has turned its propaganda guns on the ambassador who may be the next U. S. ambassador to Moscow.

He is George F. Kennan, former state department counselor and an outstanding authority on Soviet affairs.

Officials here said the Moscow radio, in a broadcast recorded by U. S. monitors, accused Kennan of having "voiced 'hate' for the Soviet Union."

The blast was regarded as possibly significant, but it was not believed to be conclusive evidence that the Kremlin might refuse to receive the veteran career diplomat. A Moscow dispatch this week said observers there were inclined to believe the Soviet government would like to have him. Kennan has been under Communist fire previously.

President Truman said last month he had talked with Secretary of State Acheson about the possible selection of Kennan as ambassador to Moscow. Mr. Truman said Kennan would make a good envoy. He named as the successor to Admiral Alan G. Kirk, Kennan would not take the post before next spring.

Moscow led off its radio attack on American diplomatic "spies" by relating an alleged V-E episode. It quoted a British journalist as having written that Kennan, then a member of the American embassy staff in Moscow, watched the celebration there and said "in a tone filled with hate: 'They are rejecting. They believe the war is over, but it is only just begun.'"

"These words express all the hate of U. S. diplomats toward free peoples," the broadcast continued. "At a later date this Mr. Kennan stated that the United States would be unable to tolerate the existence of a prosperous Socialist system in the U. S. S. R., and that war between the U. S. and the Soviet Union was inevitable."

"It is not by chance that the state department employs as diplomats in Moscow and in the people's democracies shady persons who are usually spies of long standing."

INCORPORATES

Little Rock, Dec. 8 (AP) — The Flower Shop, Inc., of Blytheville filed articles of incorporation yesterday, listing authorized capital of $25,000. Incorporators were Lucille Wilson, George Muir Jr. and Helen N. Sanders of Blytheville.

Czech Boss Purging Party to Hold Power

Vienna, Austria, Dec. 8 (AP) — Czechoslovak President Klement Gottwald, Moscow-trained boss of Czech communism, is purging his whole party to prevent his overthrow by Tito-like Red doubters of Kremlin policy, Prague radio disclosed yesterday.

The sweeping shakeup was called a "reorganization reaching from the lower ranks up to the highest level of the party." It was mapped by Gottwald as party chairman and approved by the party's central committee, the radio said.

The purge was the latest blow in a bitter battle for power from which Gottwald is emerging as the Stalin of Czechoslovakia — personal and political boss of party and nation, with his rivals and their followers in jail.

It is closely linked with Rudolf Slansky, once a fair-haired man of the Kremlin and a long time prime-mover of Czech communism, whom Gottwald imprisoned two weeks ago.

Slansky headed for oblivion on Sept. 6 when Gottwald ousted him as general secretary and took over the duties of that job himself.

Gottwald gave him the post of vice premier and coordinator of economic affairs — a saddle with a burr under it because of increasing resentment, and even strikes, in Czechoslovak industries where workers dislike the idea of laboring on exports for Russia.

Official Czechoslovak announcements, however, have not linked the ouster of officials with the reported failure of the economic program.

Mrs. Jarmila Taussigova, accused of being a Slansky accomplice, was expelled from the party and banned from party functions which were not described.

Several members of the central committee at Prague admitted they tolerated Slansky efforts to subvert the party's Moscow line, the broadcast revealed.

Gottwald indicated Slansky — also Moscow trained — was seeking to rival him by trying to "create another leadership center" in the party.

He linked Slansky with former Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis, jailed a year ago on accusations of Titoism, being an enemy of the state, and plotting with western agents. Clementis, Otto Sling and Marie Svobodova were the chief figures arrested together last autumn. They have not yet been brought to trial.

Gottwald told the party that Slansky was associated with their activities and was guilty of "direct, active, and one can say, leading participation in a conspiracy directed against party and state."

But, he said, proof that Slansky was a "direct enemy of the state" did not come to light until recent days.

Gottwald told the party that Slansky was getting ready to flee. He said he had full evidence that "the espionage service of the west-imperialists had organized and prepared Rudolf Slansky's flight to the West."

So now Slansky's affairs are being investigated "on a new basis," he said, but details must be kept secret if we want to unmask this treason down to the roots.

That seemed a clear indication that there will be more disclosures of "traitors" later.

Israel's President Reported Weakening

Jerusalem, Dec. 8 (AP) — Israel's 77-year-old president, Chaim Weizmann, gravely ill with a lung inflammation, weakened today.

"His general condition is worse," said a noon bulletin from the two physicians who are in constant attendance at his home at Rehovot. The bulletin said his blood circulation was weaker. His illness is complicated by heart disease and a circulatory ailment.

Three Hurt in Auto Accident Near Fulton

At least three persons were injured about 11 o'clock last night in a 3-way accident on Highway 67, just east of Fulton and traffic was blocked nearly an hour, investigating state patrolman Guy Downing reported today.

All persons involved were "teen-agers." A car driven by Osbie Simpson, 18-year-old Hope negro, collided with a 192-ton truck driven by Jose Rodriguez, 17, Hurlington, Texas. The Hope car came off the truck, crashed into a third auto which had pulled off the highway onto the shoulder and overturned, blocking the road.

The third vehicle was driven by Louis Chambliss, 18, of Lewisville. There were 7 passengers in the auto driven by Simpson and three were injured. J. W. Taylor received bad abrasions and bruises and two negro girls sustained cuts and bruises. Nobody else was injured.

The Simpson auto was practically demolished and Chambliss' car was badly damaged.

Simpson was arrested for driving without a license.

Indian Summer Given Notice of Eviction

By United Press

Indian summer was served with an eviction notice today as cool air masses swept eastward colliding with a warm air front and caused severe snow storms in the northern Midwest.

South Dakota appeared hardest hit and a courageous band of 16 farmers battled ice-covered highways to donate blood that was credited with saving the life of a woman.

It took the farmers 90 minutes to make the short trip from Onida to Pierre but hospital attendants said that Mrs. Elroy Rynones, injured when a shotgun accidentally discharged, was in satisfactory condition after the multiple transfusions.

Many schools were closed Friday by the storms which reached blizzard strength in Pierre, Murdo and Gettysburg, S. C. Communications and transportation were crippled in the area and highway travel was extremely hazardous.

The eastern section of the country, however, looked at the calendar and the thermometer and shrugged its shoulders. Philadelphia basked in a record 72 degree temperature.

Weathermen said the unseasonably mild spell appeared doomed "at least for the time being" and near normal temperatures for December were on the way.

Temperatures dipped abruptly in the Rocky mountain area and snow flurries were reported in the Great Lakes area and the northern plains.

A new storm in the far Southwest hurried snow throughout the area and brought 30 degree temperatures to El Paso, Tex. Earlier, frost fuxas was swept by blinding dust storms.

Forecasters reported a gradual falling of temperatures after along the Atlantic coast but said warm weather would stay around for the weekend at least.

Elsewhere in the country, winds caused by warm air fronts snaking up against the cold air masses had lost some of their force. Thursday produced dust storms, a blizzard and a tornado. The howling gales were responsible for two lives.

Execution of Herman Maxwell Set for Dec. 14

Little Rock — Herman Maxwell, Hope Negro condemned to death three times for rape, will die December 14, Governor McMath set his execution date yesterday.

Maxwell's third conviction in Hempstead Circuit Court was upheld recently by the Arkansas Supreme Court. He was first convicted on August 8, 1949, of raping a pregnant young white woman near Hope a few weeks earlier.

The Supreme Court reversed that conviction because Maxwell's lawyers had not been given sufficient time to prepare their case. On April 19, 1950, he was again convicted and the conviction was set aside because Negroes had been excluded from the jury panel. His third conviction came on April 16, 1951, and on appeal, the Supreme Court said there were no reversible errors in the trial.

Negro Lawyer Attacks School Segregation

By The Associated Press

An apparent all-out attack on racial segregation in Arkansas public schools has been opened by a Pine Bluff Negro attorney.

Attorney Harold Flowers has filed two suits in federal court charging that the state law authorizing segregation in schools violates the U. S. constitution.

As an alternative to breaking down segregation, he said, he is seeking to force school districts to provide educational facilities for Negroes equal to those available to white children.

Flowers Friday filed suit in Helena against Hughes Special School District No. 27 of St. Francis county.

He previously had brought action against the Fordyce school district. Fordyce authorities replied that Negroes were not equal to whites for white, but added they "are very substantial and the disparity if not great."

Flowers said Friday night a third suit would be filed as soon as the Hughes action is answered.

The attorney did not say where in the state the next move would be made, but last summer he announced that suits seeking to break segregation would be filed against the Hickory Ridge and Center districts in Conway county, Bowie and Parker's Chapel in Union county and Kingsland Negro schools in Cleveland county.

At that time, Flowers said he was representing 24 Arkansas Negro leaders in handling the suits.

This is not the first time federal courts have been asked to force improvement of Negro school facilities in Arkansas. About two years ago, Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley ordered the DeWitt special school District No. 1 to equalize facilities at DeWitt high school, attended by about 80 Negro elementary pupils, and at Immanuel high school.

The following year the school board of that district reported it spent $122.12 for each Negro child in the district, compared to $89.54 for each white child. Various improvements were in the physical properties of the Negro schools, and additional teachers were employed.

Bulletin

James Rogers, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rogers of 401 North Hervey Street, was seriously injured shortly after noon today when some type of blasting powder with which he was playing, exploded in a garage at his home.

Details could not be learned immediately. The youngster is in very critical condition at Branch Hospital where a call has been issued for blood for transfusions.

Firemen were called to the scene and Chief Willis said it looked as if the powder was some kind of compound used in demolition work. Officials were making an effort to find where it came from and if any other boys have any.

The youth suffered the loss of several teeth and probably his hand it was reported. He is still in the operating room at Branch hospital and the only report available at the present time was, "He is in very critical condition."

President May Order General Housecleaning

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP) — Weary house tax investigators took a weekend respite today before plunging anew into their effort to untangle a complex of charges about an alleged tax shakeup attempt.

The temporary halt in the hearings coincided with a published report that President Truman is considering the other a Democrat to prosecute about a housecleaning in government.

The Washington Post said Mr. Truman hopes to announce such a move before the new year, although the story added he has not decided on a definite plan of action. Among the things Mr. Truman "has been turning over in his mind," the Post said, are:

1. Assignment of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, to seek out corruption in the government service.
2. Refusal to concede the demand for rotation of property replacement of equipment during an armistice.
3. Demand that the U. N. All evacuated islands off the coast of North Korea and withdraw naval forces from coastal waters.
4. Insist on rear area Japan only at mutually agreed ports of entry and refuse United Nations demands for unlimited aerial reconnaissance and the use of communications lines by other teams.
5. Reject the United Nations proposal for a single armistice commission to supervise the truce and insist on a joint U. N.-Communist commission with a separate organization of neutral nations provide observer teams.

There was no immediate comment from the White House.

The house problems, in their session yesterday, were seeking answers to questions raised by the earlier testimony of Abraham Teltsbaum, wealthy Chicago lawyer. Teltsbaum told the probes two men claiming connections with high Washington officials had threatened him with tax troubles unless he paid off to the tune of $500,000.

Teltsbaum told a house ways and means subcommittee one of the officials named to him as a member of the alleged government "clique" was Charles Oliphant, who resigned Wednesday as chief counsel of the internal revenue bureau with an angry denial of the charge.

Oliphant had been scheduled to testify yesterday — he had asked for a prompt hearing — but he begged off at the last minute. His appearance was deferred until next Wednesday.

Subsequently, an internal revenue bureau lawyer testified that he had halted a move that would have delayed criminal fraud prosecution on Teltsbaum's income tax case at about the time Teltsbaum alleged he refused to be shaken down.

Shortly after Oliphant failed to make his scheduled appearance, the FBI located a missing witness led by the testimony with Oliphant in the Teltsbaum case. The witness, Henry Grunwald, was found in a Washington hospital under a doctor's order not to see or talk with anyone.

In another development, a former justice department lawyer testified Rep. James E. Morrison (D-La.) recommended against criminal prosecution in a tax case involving two Washington businessmen.

Morrison had no immediate comment, but his office said he planned to issue a statement later.

When the subcommittee resumes its hearings Monday, it plans to recall former Assistant Attorney General T. Lamar Caudle, the ousted justice department's chief tax prosecutor whose previous testimony has been dotted by references to mink coats, tree fishing trips, and a $5,000 commission on an airplane sale.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath is due to be called Tuesday for a discussion of Caudle's activities, with former internal Revenue Commissioner George J. Schoene-man to follow.

Oliphant, whose turn to testify will come after that, said in resigning his $14,800-a-year government job that he found it "beyond the limits of my endurance to protect my name . . . in the face of baseless and scurrilous charges."

When he failed to show up at the hearing yesterday, Joseph J. O'Connell, his attorney, said more time was needed for Oliphant to prepare his case to "set the record straight."

Reds Rebuff All UN Efforts to Break Deadlock

Munich, Korea, Dec. 8 (AP) — United Nations negotiators today made another unsuccessful effort to break the long deadlock over policing a truce in Korea.

"The Reds rebuffed all U. N. overtures and again said 'no' to every key U. N. proposal for supervising an armistice."

After five hours of debate in which tempers on both sides of the conference table became frayed, the two-man subcommittees appeared no nearer an agreement which would break the 12-day deadlock.

Nonetheless, some observers in hope of a compromise situation, soon. They believe the negotiations have reached the hard bargaining stage which frequently comes off before an agreement is hammered out.

The negotiators go back to Panmunjom for another session at 11 a. m. Sunday (9 p. m. EST Saturday).

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, senior U. N. delegate, told reporters after the meeting he journeyed.

"I home you are not eagerly expecting any big news," Turner said. The subcommittee spent much of the day discussing the status of United Nations islands off North Korea and the makeup of a proposed armistice commission. He said they were at "complete stalemate" on both.

In a lengthy harangue, North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Song Chul flatly rejected five points the U. N. Allies insist must be included in any truce supervision agreement. Lee said the Communists would:

1. Insist on the right to rebuild damaged airfields and construct new bases in North Korea.
2. Refuse to concede the demand for rotation of property replacement of equipment during an armistice.
3. Demand that the U. N. Allies evacuate islands off the coast of North Korea and withdraw naval forces from coastal waters.
4. Insist on rear area Japan only at mutually agreed ports of entry and refuse United Nations demands for unlimited aerial reconnaissance and the use of communications lines by other teams.
5. Reject the United Nations proposal for a single armistice commission to supervise the truce and insist on a joint U. N.-Communist commission with a separate organization of neutral nations provide observer teams.

Road Builders Need Steel

Little Rock, Dec. 8 (AP) — "Irreparable damage to highways" will be done unless increased steel allocations can be obtained, says an official of the American Road Builders' association.

Gen. Eugene Reibold, executive vice president of the ARBE, spoke last night at the annual convention of the mid-south section, American Society of Civil Engineers.

A member of the Arkansas highway department has said that the next road contracts let will wipe out the department's 1952 supply of steel.

In an earlier session, the engineers adopted a resolution backing up the Tennessee Society of Professional Engineers in their recent fight affirming their right to design and construct buildings.

A Tennessee architects group has filed a counterclaim saying that the engineers have no such right.

The mid-south section is composed of engineers from Arkansas, Mississippi, east Tennessee and southeast Missouri. Kenneth W. LeFever, Little Rock private engineer, was elected president of the group yesterday, succeeding W. J. Turnbull of Vicksburg, Miss.

Judge Holds Up Permit Revocation

Little Rock, Dec. 8 (AP) — Pulaski County Chancellor Frank Dodge has issued a temporary order holding up a liquor permit revocation ordered in an alleged violation of the "out-of-state" owner law.

The Little Rock Distributing Co., whose stock is owned by non-Arkansas residents, has filed suit against the revocation, ordered Dec. 3 by Director George Callahan of the Arkansas Alcoholic beverage control board.

The suit says that the firm "will be wrongfully required to cease operations and will suffer irreparable damages" if the permit is revoked.

Atty. Gen. Ike Murry has ruled that under the 1951 act, stock of a wholesale liquor firm must be owned by Arkansians if the firm has been in operation less than 10 years prior to this year.

No hearing date has been set.

DOROTHY DIX

Lonely Mother

Dear Miss Dix: Would you please try to set me straight and tell me what's wrong with me, because I really need help.

My daughter was married recently, she is an only child. She has a wonderful husband, beautiful home, is happy and I'm happy for her and that's what I always prayed for.

But now what I can't understand is why I'm so down in the dumps. I do nothing but cry and miss her so badly that it is affecting my health. I want her here all the time, she comes when she can but doesn't stay too long as she has her own work to do. I always have the feeling that she doesn't want to stay. I have a wonderful husband who loves me dearly, and for his sake I want to snap out of this mood. Do you think I can get over it?

C. B.
Answer: I can assure you this mood will pass, but you must help yourself a little. Missing your daughter is a perfectly natural reaction, shared by almost every mother with a married child especially if the child is the only one. With the incentive of a wonderful husband to care for, you'll come out of your melancholy soon.

Judge's Blast

Is Labeled 'Unfair'

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 8 (AP) — David Blair Owen, blamed by a New York judge for morally degrading the national football players, was praised today by school officials and townspeople in labeling
the most "unfair."

President Owen, who rose from the job of handling sports publicity to the $14,000 a year president of Bradley, was accused yesterday by Judge Saul S. Street, Judge Street accused his broadside after giving suspended sentences to three boys for Bradley basketball players on charges of conspiracy to fix games.

The three are Gene Michalski, George Chumak and William Mann.

Judge Street took on Owen of being unfairly attacked by "moral police" of the three former players, who had pleaded guilty to the charge.

In handing down his decision, Judge Street declared all three were "tempted and demoralized by a system which set athletic goals above education."

Street declared President Owen for "this act of unfairness" in the players' "subordination, and by interference traveling with the team of the team while their educational careers were being offered university sanction to their moral degradation."

Street said at what he charged were sharp comments taken by the players, such as social and square dancing, and money paid to them by the Braves booster club.

Street's blast brought these reactions:

Owen: "Naturally, I am distressed, and I think Judge Street's remarks are unfair. Everything I have done has been strictly honest and sincere and for the best interest of the school, the players and the game of basketball."

"Judge Street is to be highly commended for his attempt to improve the tone of intercollegiate basketball. We are just as eager as anyone to clean up these abuses."

He said he thought the judge's inference about Bradley, and particularly Owen, was unfair.

This youth college basketball organization actually gave less information and to the athletes going to school than any other school in the Missouri Valley conference.
The amounts were so trivial it would be ridiculous even for me to mention them. The main thing we have athletes was scholarships. We helped kids get part time jobs."

George Lath, prominent banker and chairman of the board of trustees of Bradley.

"The trustees have enough faith and confidence in President David Owen to believe that whatever he did was in the best interest of the university and its students."

"I believe Judge Street was not fully aware of existing conditions at Bradley, or he would not have condemned Owen and the institution as he did."

Harold Phillips, president of Bradley's national alumni — "the condemnation of Owen is grossly unfair. Before Owen was elevated to the presidency, Bradley had few alumni groups anywhere. Bradley's national alumni association considers it a valuable asset all over the country to have the president of the university speak to them."

School officials said that courses such as square dancing, elementary gymnastics and others were part of the physical education program.
All students are required to take at least two years of physical education.

McChesney was graduated with a C-plus average. Chumak finished with a B-plus rating. Mann was graduated with a B-minus average and nonically received one "D" in "track and field."

Officials said all three took enough teaching credits to permit them to teach in Illinois.

The three players received suspended sentences from Judge Street after being indicted in New York last Aug. 17. They admitted conspiracy to fix the point spread of a game with Bowling Green of Ohio in Madison Square Garden March 19, 1949. They could have been sentenced up to three years each in jail.
